

Pet Owner Worksheet for Preparing Visit with Accredited Veterinarian to Complete Health Certificate

We recommend you consult the USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service Pet Travel site (aphis.usda.gov) for important information before requesting an international health certificate. This site allows you to search by the destination country and will take you through the steps to obtain a Veterinary Export Health Certificate.

Know the time frame and requirements for your destination country as well as your airline prior to booking your travel. They each may have requirements regarding when you will need to have the health certificate issued. There may also be requirements for your destination regarding microchipping, vaccinations (especially Rabies), and import certificate(s) that will impact your departure date.

Contact Center for Veterinary Millbrook, P.C. to let us know that you need a pet travel certificate, your destination country, and your travel date. Complete all appropriate forms (print and Complete), with all necessary information and a member of our team will contact you with any requests for clarifications. This must be done within a specific time frame before your travel date to ensure that all requirements for your destination country can be met. For New Clients, this will need to be booked at least 1 month in advance and all appropriate patient history and paperwork submitted to our team.

It is your responsibility to ensure you have the appropriate paperwork for your pet's travel. You should check with both the airline and the consulate of the destination and/or in transit country(s), specifically requesting import documentation. Also, you must ensure that you have the appropriate travel container (size/material) for your pet and whether your pet can travel in the cabin or is required to go as cargo. Please double check all paperwork and sign the appropriate sections. Please make copies and store separately. APHIS is a government agency, once paperwork is submitted it is completely out of our control. We will notify you when approval is received. We have no way to estimate nor update you as to the return date, nor can we expedite any submission.
